Reading Buddies at Arlon Seay Elementary

Fourth graders in Kim Lyssy's class at Arlon Seay Elementary spent the day recently reading to kindergarten students.

The fourth graders not only read from books they authored during a science lesson on what happens to rocks that suffer weathering, erosion, and deposition, but also from other books the kindergarten students enjoy.

Here, Caleb Mitchell is amazed by the dinosaur adventures fourth grader Taylor Higgins is telling him about as he reads "How Tough Was a Tyrannosaurus?"
