Quilt project continues to thrive at MHS

Memorial High teacher Cynthia Moore (pictured) started the Community Quilt Project six years ago to introduce her students to a sewing machine.

The project also has a much more meaningful purpose. So that they can be given to women and their new babies, the quilts are donated at the end of the school year to the Options for Women crisis pregnancy center in New Braunfels.

The MHS students that made a total of 14 quilts for donation this year were Christina Patino, Veronica Williams, Crystal Gallegos, Tiffany Gallegos, Kyndra Knight, Megan Olsen, Tiffany Jetter and Megan Byron.
